

Comic Book: Spot vs. Iris the Virus

Enjoy Spot the Nanodog's 2020 adventure mission to fight Iris, the evil virus, and save the world!

Back in the early 2000s, people didn't have nanopets and nanobots. They were just figuring it all out.

Today, invisible nanotechnology is everywhere. We know it but we do not see it:

(Invisible when magnified a million times.)

We can own all types of bots we can't see, and they work for us. There are nanocats and nanodogs. Even nanofrogs and nanohamsters!

But not all new technology is good. There are evil viruses that can mess everything up. That's why scientists made...

nanosuperheroes like Spot the Nanodog!

One day...

Spot was recharging his energy cell. Isn't solar power great?

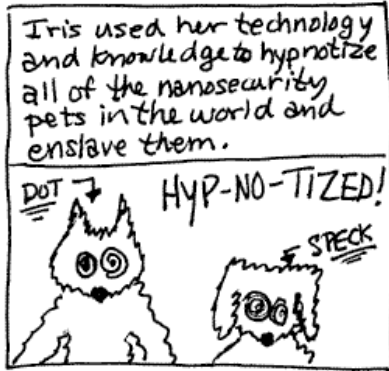

His nanobot materialized the latest nanonews paper with all of the world's events happening now...

Let's see what's up!

The headline screamed out: World Quakes Before Iris, the Evil Virus!
