This program focuses on providing staff with an opportunity to participate in a global engagement program (Study Abroad or Study USA). Programs vary in length from 8 days to three weeks. Staff members can expect to expand their global perspectives and make connections with students, faculty, and staff during global engagement experiences. Staff will not be required to take vacation days for this experience as it is part of professional development.

Please read the expectations carefully and understand that each course/program is unique in terms of the staff representative's experience.

 - Minimum of three in the fall for a winter term course but as many as possible is ideal
- Attend meetings and workshops when requested by the Global Education Center (GEC).

Full time staff members (who have been employed at Elon at least 5 years) are eligible to apply for this program. The answers collected on this application will be used for informational purposes to determine a pool of candidates. Social media may be viewed during the approval process.

Frequently Asked Questions

1. Q: I don't currently have a passport.

A: The GEC will assist you in completing your passport application and Elon will pay for your passport photos and the processing fee.

2. Q: Do I have to take vacation time to participate?

A: Once employee and supervisor agree about participation, the staff representative will not have to take vacation time for the approved period.

3. Q: How will I pay for my meals, tips, and any other incidentals?

A: Like any accompanying program leader, staff members receive a per diem, in advance of travel. A per diem is an allowance for daily expenses that cannot be pre-paid. The Global Education Center determines the per diem amount based on the program location and duration of stay.

4. Q: How much spending money should I plan to have?

A: Since all meals, travel and accommodations are covered, additional expenses might include activities pursued during program free time, snacks outside of mealtimes, and the purchase of souvenirs.

5. Q: When will exact dates be set?

A: Airline arrangements can fluctuate (flights are cancelled, or schedules are significantly modified). For this reason, program dates are not solidified until a few months before program travel.

6. Q: How will I enter this on my time sheet?

A: This is to be worked out between employee and supervisor, upon selection. No vacation or sick time is to be used while away from campus on the course.

Hourly staff members that enter their time in OnTrack using Web Time Entry should complete and submit the timesheet that is active on the last day of work before course departure. For any days on that timesheet that will occur while away from campus while on the course, enter regularly scheduled hours in the “Hours Worked” box. For timesheets that will be active while the staff member is away from campus while on the course, the supervisor should enter regularly scheduled hours in the “Hours Worked” box for each day and sign the timesheet.

Staff members that enter their time in OnTrack using Monthly Leave Entry need to complete their timesheet as normal before they depart for the course or after they return if they return before the submission deadline passes.

7. Q: Will I be the only adult, besides the professor, on the program?

A: Most programs have two “co-leaders.” This means that the staff representative will typically be a third, non-student traveler on the program. Most programs also have local, on-site guides to help the program complete their itinerary/activities.

8. Q: Will I need a special type of phone? How can I stay in contact with home?

A: No phone is required but you may want to add a temporary international plan to your account to stay in contact with home. Phone arrangement options vary by program location.

9. Q: Do I need to get special insurance?

A: The Global Education Center purchases and automatically enrolls all students, faculty, and staff participants in a travel insurance policy through iNext, an outside insurance provider, prior to the winter program.

10. Q: What if I have a particular course with which I want to match? What if I want to be moved to a different course after I've been matched?

A: The Global Education Center examines many different factors when matching staff participants with available courses, including but not limited to, course availability, faculty experience, previous staff participant travel experience, language requirements, and physical expectations. Approaching the whole experience with an open mind is the best way to make the most of this opportunity.

11. Q: Will I be excluded because I have traveled internationally before?

A: Previous international travel does not preclude you from being selected to participate but it is helpful to the GEC to know when matching experiences.

12. Q: What should I expect in terms of physical requirements, course content, language expectations, safety, etc. while I'm away?

A: Being abroad will expose you to all kinds of new and exciting experiences. Though this is a time of broadening your horizons, you should always exercise caution to be as safe as possible while away. Each course is different and comes with its own set of expectations and opportunities. Your faculty leaders and GEC staff can help you prepare and answer your questions.

13. Q: Will I be performing duties for my position while away from campus?

A: This is to be worked out between employee and supervisor, upon selection. However, this program is intended to be a fully immersive experience so every effort should be made to have minimal to no work requirements while participating, including checking, and responding to email.

COVID-19 Considerations for 2022-2023

In the past, the GEP has been able to send six staff members but we are only planning to send three in 2023. This reduction is based on several factors, including unknown pandemic variables, lower number of courses being offered and Global Education Center (GEC) staff effort to facilitate the GEP program.

Voluntary Participation: Staff members participating in the GEP understand that their participation is voluntary and not required by Elon. By participating, staff members should understand the risks associated and make their own investigation to determine if participation is right for them. Elon makes every effort to ensure the safety and well-being of everyone participating in the programs we sponsor. However, there are unique risks specific to participating in a global engagement program during the COVID-19 global pandemic, and these risks are due to factors beyond the control of the University.

Risks of Illness While Participating in Global Engagement During the COVID-19 Pandemic: Please understand that global engagement programs in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic involve the unique risks of exposure to COVID-19, and that Elon University cannot guarantee an environment free of COVID-19 on or off campus. Please be aware that there may be risks and hazards unknown to you and not described in connection to participation in this program. Please consult your doctor or other appropriate health officials and, if applicable, acquire the necessary immunizations or preventative treatments required by the U.S. Center for Disease Control and Prevention and the government of the host country(ies) for the areas you are visiting. Please consult with your doctor regarding your personal medical needs.
